

APPLICATION TO COMMISSIONER FOR DECISION

Section 54FC and Building (Resolution of Residential Building Work Disputes) Regulations 19 Northern Territory of Australia Building Act

Information:

Pursuant to section 54FC of the Building Act, a current owner of a residential building may apply to the Commissioner of Residential Building Disputes about a consumer guarantee dispute. A consumer guarantee dispute is a dispute between a current owner and a residential builder who has carried out prescribed residential building work, and in circumstances prescribed by Regulation 18 of the Building (Resolution of Residential Building Work Disputes) Regulations. The circumstance prescribed by Regulation 18 is that there must be no contractual relationship between the current owner and builder. The contractual relationship will be considered at an end if the work has been completed and the parties consider the contractual obligations have been fulfilled, or where there is a dispute between the parties and the relationship has broken down irretrievably.

SECTION 1 - APPLICANT

FAX NUMBER		EMAIL ADDRESS
POSTAL ADDRESS

SECTION 3 - DETAILS OF PROPERTY

LOT/PORION NUMBER		LOCATION e.g. Town of Darwin
PROPERTY ADDRESS

SECTION 4 - EFFECTIVE PERIOD FOR MAKING APPLICATION

Note: an application may only be made during the effective period for consumer guarantees. Applicants should refer to Regulation 7 of the Building (Resolution of Residential Building Work Disputes) Regulations. Please take the time to read the questions carefully, as incorrectly completed applications may take longer to process and you may be required to provide further information. If you require assistance completing the form, please contact the Commissioner of Residential Building Disputes (contact details available at www.consumeraffairs.nt.gov.au).

Please choose which date is relevant to your circumstance -

For example:

- if your claim relates to non-completion of building work, please choose the date that is relevant to your circumstance under that subheading and provide relevant evidence;
- if your claim relates to defective work, please choose the date that is relevant to your circumstance under that subheading and provide relevant evidence;
- if your claim relates to both non completion and defective work, please specify both relevant dates.

For allegations of non-completion of building work

Specify the start date relevant to your circumstances	Date	Evidence attached
Non-completion (non-completion period)
If the builder has started to carry out the work – the day the builder completely ceases to do so
If the builder has not started to carry out the work and the contract specifies a starting date – on the specified starting date
If the builder has not started to carry out the work and the contract does not specify a starting date – on the date the contract was entered into

This information is required as an applicant has 90 days from after the day or date mentioned above to make the application to the Commissioner of Residential Building Disputes about incomplete work (other timeframes apply in relation to defective work – see below)

The effective period for allegations of defective work is the total of the construction period, and the defect period

For allegations of defective work and where the work has not been completed (construction period)

Specify the start date relevant to your circumstances	Date	Evidence attached
If there is a contract for the work – on the day the contract for the building work was entered into
If there is no contract for the work – on the day the building permit is granted for the work

Specify the end date relevant to your circumstances	Date	Evidence attached
If an Occupancy Permit was required - the date on which the Occupancy Permit was granted
If an Occupancy Permit was not required - the date on which all declarations required under the Building Act were made i.e. builders declaration
If the work has not been completed within the two years permitted by the building permit (which does not include any extension to the original building permit) the day on which the first building permit expired

This information is required to calculate the defect period (1 year non-structural and 6 year structural), that follows completion of the work (the construction period). The defect period starts immediately after the last day of the construction period.

Note, that if the current owner becomes aware of the alleged defective work within 30 days before the end of the defect period, the defect period is extended for 30 days after the current owner became aware of the defect.

Example:

If an Occupancy Permit was required for relevant residential building work, and was granted on 1 July 2013 –

- the consumer guarantees in relation to non-structural defects would expire on 2 July 2014; and
- the consumer guarantees in relation to structural defects would expire on 2 July 2019.

SECTION 5 - WHAT ORDERS ARE SOUGHT?

The Commissioner of Residential Building Disputes may only make orders for a builder to rectify defective work, and complete incomplete work. Where there are circumstances that make it impracticable for the builder to rectify or complete the work, the Commissioner also has the power to order compensation for the completion of incomplete work, or the rectification of defective work.

Please specify the type of order sought and approximate value:

Type of order:

- Order/s for the builder to rectify defective work.
- Order/s for the builder to complete defective work.
- Order/s for the builder to both complete incomplete work, and rectify defective work.

Approximate value:

- An order for the builder to do work to the approximate value of; OR
- An order for the builder to pay me an amount as compensation to rectify defective or incomplete work

Note: The limit of jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Residential Building Disputes is $100,000. If your claim is for more, or the Commissioner forms the opinion that the matter involves complex questions of fact or law, your claim may be referred to the Lands, Planning, and Mining Tribunal.

SECTION 6 - EVIDENCE OF DISPUTE

The Commissioner of Residential Building Disputes can only make orders where there is no contractual relationship between the parties. Parties that are in a contractual relationship should refer to their dispute resolution clauses and or seek legal advice.

You are also strongly encouraged to seek legal advice if you intend to take steps to end your contract. Conduct that demonstrates an intention to end a contract, or steps taken to terminate a contract where there is no legal right for that party to do so, can have very serious consequences for that party.

Please provide the date the contractual relationship ended i.e. date the relationship was considered to be irretrievably broken down, or date the contract finished, and facts to support that statement.

Date you first became aware of the alleged contravention?

Note: This date may be used to determine if the effective period for the consumer guarantees is extended by up to 30 days.

Have you previously made a consumer guarantee dispute application? If yes, please provide concise details of the alleged contravention in that application, and the outcome.

Provide copies of -

- any correspondence between you and the respondent;
- copy of certificate or policy of Residential Building Cover;
- evidence, e.g., photos, reports etc.
