

African swine fever

Got pigs?

Help save our bacon

If you have pigs on your property, you share an important role to protect Australia against African Swine Fever (ASF).

ASF is a contagious viral disease of pigs that's spreading rapidly and will devastate our pork industry if it gets in.

ASF is not a danger to human health or food safety.

The disease is spread by direct contact with infected pigs, contaminated vehicles, equipment or clothing and by feeding infected swill or meat scraps to pigs.

It's vital that we keep ASF out of Australia. We need your help to save our bacon by:

Never feeding swill to pigs.

Swill feeding is illegal.

- Human food is not pig food. Never feed pigs food or scraps containing animal matter such as meat, meat products and eggs (known as swill).
- Only feed pigs commercially available feed, grains, fruit and vegetables that have not had contact with animal matter.
- Dispose of food waste so pigs can't access and eat it.
- Read the agnote on prohibited pig feed, go to nt.gov.au/african-swine-fever

Registering for your free property identification code (PIC).

- It doesn't matter how big or small your property is – from a suburban house block to pastoral station.
- If you have a pig or livestock then you must have a registered PIC. Apply for your free PIC via the attached form or go to nt.gov.au/pic

Protecting your pigs.

- Protect the health of your pigs and restrict the spread of an outbreak. For more resources to help keep your farm clean go to farmbiosecurity.com.au
