- 2 In this Schedule:

Adelaide River Catchment means the area of land in the Territory that is delimited by the series of coordinates for the NCB Level 2 feature known as 'Adelaide River'.

Darwin River Catchment means the area of land in the Territory that is delimited by the series of coordinates for the NCB Level 3 feature known as 'Darwin River'.

Geofabric GIS means the Geographic Information System known as the 'Australian Hydrological Geospatial Fabric (AHGF) (Geofabric) Web Data Services', version 3.2, the custodian and owner of which is the Australian Bureau of Meteorology.

*Notes for definition Geofabric GIS

The Geofabric GIS is a digital database that is collated, managed and published by the Australian Bureau of Meteorology as part of the Bureau's functions in relation to water information under Part 7 of the Water Act 2007 (Cth). The Geofabric GIS is based on a set of input data products, which it builds on to produce an integrated set of 5 output data products, including the product 'Geofabric Surface Catchments (SH Catchments)'. Access to the Geofabric GIS data, and further information regarding the digital database, is publicly available through the website of the Australian Bureau of Meteorology: bom.gov.au/water/geofabric/index.shtml

NCB Level 2 feature means the data within the Geofabric that:

- (a) represents the geographic surface boundaries for catchment areas throughout Australia that are classified as Level 2 (Aggregated River Basin Groups) in accordance with the hierarchy of catchments under the National Catchment Boundaries; and
- (b) is a feature of the Geofabric data product known as 'Geofabric Surface Catchments (SH Catchments)'.

NCB Level 3 feature means the data within the Geofabric that:

- (a) represents the geographic surface boundaries for catchment areas throughout Australia that are classified as Level 3 (Contracted Catchments) in accordance with the hierarchy of catchments under the National Catchment Boundaries; and
- (b) is a feature of the Geofabric data product known as 'Geofabric Surface Catchments (SH Catchments)'.

Lagoon Creek Catchment means the area of land in the Territory that is delimited by the series of coordinates for the NCB Level 3 feature known as 'Lagoon Creek'.

River Charlotte Catchment means the area of land in the Territory that is delimited by the series of coordinates for the NCB Level 3 feature known as 'River Charlotte'.
