

Ellery Creek Big Hole - Tjoritja / West MacDonnell National Park

Fact Sheet

Ellery Creek Big Hole is a spectacular waterhole in the mighty Ellery Creek which cuts through a gorge in the West MacDonnell Ranges. Thousands of years of massive floods have carved out this beautiful waterhole and unlocked some amazing geology.

Visitors to Ellery Creek Big Hole will be rewarded with excellent recreational opportunities - walking, swimming, picnicking and camping just to name a few.

Access

Ellery Creek Big Hole is located 80 km west of Alice Springs. Access is via Larapinta and Namatjira Drives. Access is by conventional vehicle, however the last 2 km is unsealed. All roads can be impassable for a short period after heavy rain.

When to Visit

The Park is accessible all year round. The cooler months (April to October) are the most pleasant.

What to Do

Camping - Camping facilities are available for tents, trailers and caravans. Spaces are limited and operate on a first come, first served basis. Gas barbecues and toilets are provided. Camping fees are payable at the site and camping is only permitted in designated areas.

People planning to stay overnight should bring their own drinking water requirements with them.

Swimming - The permanent waters of Ellery Creek are situated 160 metres (five minutes walk) from the Carpark. The waterhole is ideal for swimming, especially in the warmer months. Swimmers should be aware that most water holes are extremely cold. Prolonged exposure, even during summer, can result in hypothermia. Beware of submerged logs and rocks. Do not jump, dive or swing into the water.

Walking - The walking tracks of Ellery Creek Big Hole offer opportunities for visitors to explore the site, no matter what their time limit.

The 5 minute Ellery Creek walk from the carpark along a wheelchair accessible path, will provide visitors with a picture perfect view of Ellery Creek Big Hole.

The Dolomite Walk (3 km loop walk - 1.5 hrs) is a great way to take in the fascinating geological processes of the site. The walk is along a marked, unsealed path with some steady inclines.

For the keen walker Sections 6 and 7 of the Larapinta Trail start or finish at Ellery Creek Big Hole. This walk requires careful planning and preparation and should only be attempted by fit people with previous bushwalking experience.
